WEST HIGHLANDS ATTRACT ATTENTION

Pomeranians Not to Be Overlooked, Despite Their Size—Society Folk Have Many Entries.

New York, N. Y., Feb. 25.—Thousands of dollars worth of dogs were on exhibition at the annual dog show of the Westminster Kennel club, in Madison Square garden. The number of dogs entered at the show ran up to almost 2,000, which is greater than at any of the club's previous shows. The show was for four days.

One of the features of the show this year was the judging of packs of foxhounds, which proved to be a picturesque affair because of the fact that the huntsmen and whippers-in were in livery. There are six packs of five couples each entered in this event and the competition is of the keenest.

Another class that aroused no little interest is that of the West Highlands. This is comparatively a new dog at the show, this breed having heretofore been known as the Rosneath terrier. American foxhounds were shown by the Loudoun Hunt and Robincourt Farm kennels, and the English foxhounds by the Watchdog, Berkshire, Parkway and Westchester County Hunts in the regular classes, while in the pack classes many others were represented. George J. Gould, George Blestein, W. T. Payne, H. D. Kirkover and W. T. Lawson will have their dogs in the pointer class.

Mrs. Tyler Morse, Mrs. R. H. Davis and Reginald C. Vanderbilt were the pick of their Old English sheep dogs, and among the poodles the Lord Brook kennels and Mrs. Morse had some good ones, among them being the champions Onyx, The Miller, Jacqueline, Red Rose, Orchard, Whiteflock and Rudolph Boheme. The Green Acres kennels, Mrs. Tyler Morse and Mrs. J. W. Decker entered their Chow Chows and the champions Chinese Idol and Pato will be shown.

Among the exhibitors of the bulldogs are J. W. Lawson, Robert Guggenheim, Richard Croker, Jr., the Songo kennels, Tyler Morse, J. F. Collins, Mrs. C. M. Hamilton and many others well known in the bulldog world. On the benches were many champions, among them being Dundee Newgirl Vinemount, Patience, Dundee Paudora, Maston Gladiator, Pitland, Thornbury Rajah, Lord Chancellor, Dundee Swisher, Memel, St. Vincent and Lord Ethelstone.

The little fellows, the Pomeranians, were out in large numbers, some of them with names out of all proportion to their size, as, for instance, the midge belonging to Miss M. F. Sturgis, which is called Champion Portfield Onley Luny Atom. Other champions to be shown will be R. F. Mayhew's Fox Hills Dandy, Miss Sturgis's Pomfield Offley Sunny Atom, and Miss J. L. Politz's Black Pearl.

ROOSEVELT'S SUPERIOR SAYS TEDDY HAS COST HIM LOTS OF MONEY

Eldest Member of New York Stock Exchange Here Today Says He Admires President Diaz.

"Teddy is a good friend of mine, but he has cost me lots of money; so I say he is the 'dearest' friend I ever had."

That is the way E. C. Benedict put it in the lobby of the St. Regis this morning. Far be it from Mr. Benedict to say anything really naughty about the ex-president, for both belong to the same yacht club.

"I am commodore of the Seawanhaka Corinthian club," explained Mr. Benedict, "and Mr. Roosevelt is just a common sailor. So I am his superior officer. Yes, I had cause to complain once when he did not attend divine service."

Visits President Diaz.

Now, Mr. Benedict, who bears distinction as being the eldest member of the New York stock exchange, has returned from a trip in Mexico on which he met President Diaz and talked with him for half an hour or so. It happened this way: The New Yorker passed a remark that he had known seven presidents of the United States, especially Cleveland, with whom he used to play when a boy. And so the Mexicans would have it that he see their president, just to compare him with the others as it were.

"You are the greatest ruler of Americans since Victoria," said Mr. Benedict, and that, of course, pleased one Diaz. And so the two elderly men—Benedict is no youth as he admits—talked of things great and only of interest to a ruler of men and a ruler of money.

Admires Mexican Executive.

Mr. Benedict arrived in El Paso yesterday with two married daughters, Mrs. C. R. Harmon and Mrs. Ramsey Turnbull, of New York, and a niece, Mrs. William H. Taylor, of Oakland, Cal. The party will leave sometime tonight in a private car.

"I admire Diaz for coming over from that country to meet our president," said Mr. Benedict. "It is the ugliest country I ever saw and the people seem to dress accordingly."
